Review O' Clock

I had the privilege of meeting the man behind the brand quite early, while the foundation of the brand was being laid, and one thing I will say for sure is that the Niyi Adesanya brand represents growth, resilience and possibilities. I have seen the brand grow from activity to project, from service to experience! I have also seen how the brand evolved during some of the most turbulent economic times the world has seen. The brand demonstrates possibilities by itself, and also makes it happen for others!

The power of focus can be taken lightly until you look closely at why people like Niyi Adesanya have enabled many dreamchasers find their path to high performance. Our paths, Niyi and I, crossed a good two decades ago and I have watched in admiration the crystalization of the Niyi Adesanya brand as a trusted hand in guiding entrepreneurs as they construct strategy that help outperform rivals.

From my Light house what I see is how focus enables the Niyi Adesanya Think Tank navigate with people who want to win the competitive seas.

My journey with Niyi Adesanya's brand became personal from the very first encounter in 2022, when my team and I, at LAPO Microfinance Bank, planned a Leadership Retreat and invited him as our Guest Speaker. His session was not just insightful, it was transformational.

He brought a rare depth of leadership wisdom, practical strategy, and values-based truth that resonated beyond the event itself. What began as a professional engagement quickly became something far more impactful.

From attending his programmes and engaging more closely with his platforms, I have consistently experienced Dr. Niyi as a man deeply committed not only to teaching success, leadership, and wealth creation, but to genuinely building people.

He has an extraordinary way of identifying potential, extending support, and opening doors for emerging leaders to thrive. It's actually one of the things I admire most about him and I count myself fortunate to have experienced it first-hand.
